

BLOCKS CROSSING—People living in the vicinity of the Wabash railroad crossing on Laraway road in New Lenox township, about two miles south of the village, complain that scenes like the one shown here are too frequent. They declare that the Wabash blocks this crossing more than once a week and for periods ranging from 30 minutes to two hours. Sometimes the engine cuts loose and goes away, according to Michael Mitchell, who lives close by the crossing, leaving the train straddling the crossing.

"Do you think the train crew is going for lunch or a cup of coffee, when the engine goes away," Mr. Mitchell was asked, "or do you suppose they are going off to work for another railroad for a little extra time?"

Mr. Mitchell said he didn't know where the engine went, nor why, but that he and his neighbors were tired of having the crossing blocked.

The photographer who took this picture was somewhat irked too. The picture was taken the afternoon of May 1 at 4 o'clock after the photo had waited half an hour for the crossing to clear. Then he had to go back the way he came, which took him several miles out of his way for his next assignment.

The state law says a train cannot block a crossing for more than 10 minutes. District 5 headquarters of the state police reports it has received no complaints concerning the Laraway crossing. (Semmler Press photo)

WHEN BIGGER HOLES are made they are quite likely to be found on U.S. 30, one of the several stepchildren of the super highway system since espoused by the Illinois highway department. This particular case of bad pavement is just east of the Wabash underpass on the eastern edge of New Lenox. Several cars have been damaged as a result of striking this hole, according to New Lenox police. Last Sunday one driver had a front tire blow as a result of hitting this hole and he narrowly escaped a head-on collision with an approaching car. Police report there have been several auto collisions as a direct result of this condition. New Lenox authorities say they have asked the state highway department to repair the roadway but without results. The only satisfaction they have had, it was reported, was that the state was going to do some work on Route 30 this year and eventually would reach this section. (Semmler Press Photo)

Veteran Frankfort Pastor Will Retire in August

The Rev. Erich Bizer, pastor of St. Peter's United Church of Christ for almost 20 years, is retiring in August and he and Mrs. Bizer plan to make their home at Quincy where one of their sons, Robert, also resides.

Announcements that he was resigning his pulpit at Frankfort was made at the regular morning services last Sunday. A pulpit committee is being formed as the first step in the move to call another pastor. The matter will be first taken up with the president of the North Illinois synod who will arrange for the committee to meet candidates for the position. Eventually it will be the congregation that will choose the new pastor—by vote.

Originally known as St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church, it is now known as St. Peter's United Church of Christ since its union with the Congregational church was agreed upon. It was built 95 years ago and in the past 72 years it has had but three pastors.

The Rev. Mr. Bizer was born in Sigourney, Ia., but was brought up at New Albin. His father, the Rev. Conrad Bizer, was an Evangelical and Reformed church pastor so the Frankfort minister can be said to have never known any other home than a parsonage. He has been in the ministry 45 years and when he retires in August, he will not really cease his work for he plans to supply pulpits occasionally when pastors are absent or ill.

The Bizers have three sons, all of whom were ordained as ministers in the Evangelical and Reformed church. Two of them, Raymond and Arnold are pastors. The other son, Robert, retired from the religious field to become an editor. He is now with the Herald-Whig, a daily at Quincy. Arnold has a church at Alhambra, Ill., and Raymond is at St. Louis where he is director of religious education of the Missouri Valley synod with 130 churches in his charge.

The Rev. Mr. Bizer is one of the best known clergymen in the area. Since he has been pastor, St. Peter's church has increased in membership and physically. A new education building has been erected and the church has purchased the property next door for parking. The church has 560 members.

The pulpit committee, it was explained by one of the church members, will have to have a little time in which to acquaint itself with the procedure used in employing a new minister—it has been used so infrequently.

H. C. MURAWSKE Retires After 38 Years With Power Company

Harry C. Murawske, of Route 1, Mokena, retired Tuesday (May 1) from Commonwealth Edison Company after more than 38 years of service in the overhead department. He started in 1923 as a groundman, later became a lineman and overhead foreman at the department's Chicago-Central headquarters, 5059 W. Polk St., at the time he retired.

Hunting, fishing and gardening are Mr. Murawske's favorite hobbies which he expects to enjoy during his future leisure. He has lived five years in Mokena and is a member of the local Lions' club. He and his wife, Henre, will travel between Mokena and their home in Arkansas. They have been married 31 years.

New Lenox Board Adopts Appropriation Ordinance

The New Lenox village board at its regular meeting May 1 adopted its appropriation ordinance for the coming year. The vote was three to two. The budget is practically in balance.

Tailored to the income the general expenditures are totaled at $50,600 and the estimated receipts covering these are the same, $50,600.

The budget for the sewer department calls for expenditures of $54,600 while the estimated income is placed at $55,000, making a grand total of $105,200 for appropriations and $105,600 is estimated receipts.

Besides these receipts which come from local sources the village also will receive motor fuel tax money from the state and expenditures of such funds are also authorized. It is estimated the motor fuel money will run to approximately $12,000 and it is already allocated for specific jobs.

Of the sewer department's estimated revenues $15,000 comes from taxes (to pay interest and principal on the general obligation bonds) and $40,- 000 from the sewer rates.

Of the general revenue the bulk will come from the village's share of the state sale's tax which is expected to be about $26,000. The next largest piece of revenue is $12,000 which represents real estate taxes and third is an item of $5,500 for fines and fees. Licenses will bring in an estimated $1,600 and $500 is expected from other sources. This all adds to $45,800 and is taken from figures covering last year's receipts. There was balance on hand from last year of $2,200 which leaves $2,600 to meet the proposed expenditures of $50,600. Mayor Stanley Gilmore said he hoped that the above receipts would increase sufficiently this year to yield the amount required.

Two of the trustees, Evans Drotts and Don Anderson were unable to attend last week's meeting. Eugene McGovney, Chester Bowman, Robert Randolph and Eugene Hunt were the trustees on hand with Mayor Gilmore the other council member.

When the appropriation ordinance was submitted for passage Hunt and Randolph voted against it. McGovney and Bowman voted for it and the mayor cast the deciding vote.

Hunt and Randolph said they were in favor of the village living within its income but they contend that the allocation of the revenues are unequal, that too much money is being spent on the police department, that round the clock police protection is not necessary. The total budget for the police department is $21,900 of which salaries total $16,500 lease of a squad car, $1,900 and maintenance and operation of such car, $3,000; also included is $150 for supplies.

Hunt, who is street commissioner, complained that his budget is cut so it will be difficult to get any work done until he has accumulated some funds. The alternative is to find someone who will extend credit and wait for the funds to grow.

The street department budget under the new ordinance is $12,750 as compared to $19,100 last year. Last year the item for salaries was $7,000; this year $5,000 of this was listed under the sewer department since Victor Avon is in charge of the sewage disposal plant and sewer maintenance as well as employed by the street department for maintenance work. This leaves $2,000 in the street department to meet payrolls for extra labor. Hunt says he could use a man full time for maintenance work on the streets. A thousand dollars is appropriated for snow removal, which is the same as last year but the figure for grading and resurfacing is reduced from $4,000 to $2,000 and $250 is lopped off ditches and culverts leaving that figure at $1,250. No special provision is made for completing E. Wood street but $1,500 is set up for new road construction. An appropriation of $1,250 is set up for work at Second and Pine and $750 allocated for tree removal. The item of truck maintenance and operation was upped from $1,000 to $2,400 while the street sign item was reduced from $400 to $300.

The appropriation for lighting and power was raised from $4,300 to $4,800; civil defense was cut from $500 to $100. Also lopped off the budget were such items as $1,000 for beautification of village property; $600 for the children's recreational program and $500 for promotional plans for the village.

The salary, office rent and supplies for the police magistrate come to a total of $2,900 and this is carried in the section devoted to the legal department instead of the police department.

Last year the total appropriation for the sewer department was $67,520. A big reduction this year is in the interest on general obligation bonds. It is $10,000 this year instead of $20,220 and operation and maintenance is down from $17,600 to $14,900. The appropriation ordinance is published in detail on another page.

The total appropriation last year, without figures for the motor fuel tax, was $140,945.

Developers, Village Board at Odds on N. Lenox Annexation

Plans for the annexation of the proposed Barr-Vavrus housing development to the village of New Lenox appear to be stymied at the moment.

The developers gave the village a proposition which was discussed at the regular board meeting May 2, and the village board gave the subdividers a counter proposition at a special meeting last Sunday.

As matters stand now the village has rejected the developers proposal and the developers have indicated they do not feel they can accept the proposal of the village.

In a letter to the village board last week the subdividers stated they planned to eventually erect 450 homes. Improvements in the subdivision called for an outlay of $383,000 for water and sewer. The figure was broken down as follows: Sewer mains... $106,700. Water mains... 175,800. Well and pump... 30,000. Lift station... 3,000. Enlargement of present village sewage disposal plant 67,500.

They figured that the householders would pay $90 a year for sewer and water service and asked the village to pay them half, or $45 a year for six years. That would amount to $121,500, and in return the village would own all the mains and have an enlarged disposal plant.

At the meeting with the developers Sunday the village proposed that the subdividers install the sewer and water mains under village supervision and according to village specifications at their expense and attach it to the village system; build the lift station; pay a tap-in fee of $150 per house to compensate the village for enlarging the disposal plant and agree to sell five acres to the New Lenox school district for a school site at a nominal figure. In the end all of the mains and the lift station would become the property of the village without the village making any returns to the developers.

At the meeting last week several residents of the village appeared before the board to protest against any agreement under which the village would pay any money to the subdividers. One of the trustees, Robert Randolph, also spoke against developers proposal.

The purpose of bringing the matter up on Wednesday of last week, Mayor Stanley Gilmore stated, was to get an expression of opinion before meeting with the subdividers Sunday.

Burglars Hit Silver Lake Golf, Tinley VFW Clubs

Burglars hit Sunday night in the Tinley Park area.

Silver Lake Country club at Orland Park was entered between 9:30 Sunday night and 7 o'clock Monday morning and it was estimated that approximately $3,500 of golfing equipment and accessories were carried off. An attempt to force the safe failed but some $40 or $50 was taken from the office.

At Tinley Park the Veterans of Foreign Wars club rooms were burglarized and it was estimated that approximately $800 in money and merchandise—mostly liquor from the bar—were taken. Also carried off were some rifles, used in firing salutes at gravesides and for fitting out color guards, and a 45 calibre automatic pistol.

It was believed about $400 in cash was taken in the VFW burglary, the thieves having rifled all of the vending machines in the place and causing some damage to them, a radio set, a TV set and a movie projector. It was estimated the damage would run about $125.

Investigators reason that either a boy or a very slim man—possibly a girl—entered the VFW headquarters first and then let the others in. Police said entry was gained thru a window that measured 11 x 11 inches.

At the golf club several doors were forced and the pro shop was practically cleaned out. Golf clubs, caddy bags, golf balls, sweaters, jackets and other wearing apparel were carted away—literally. Electrically operated golf carts owned by the club were used to carry the loot from the clubhouse to where the burglars had parked their cars or truck on 151st street. Apparently they were afraid to drive up to the club house for fear that if anyone saw vehicles about the place when it was closed would excite suspicion.

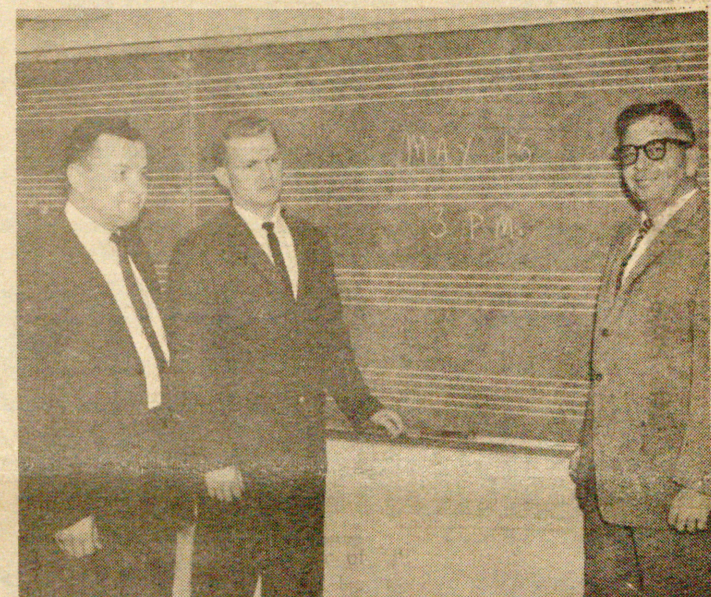

The burglars came equipped to burn their way into the safe but lacked the knowledge of how to use an acetylene torch. Instead of cutting the door open they welded it shut, investigators said.

The burglary was not discovered until the club was opened for business Monday.

Tinley Park police reported finding four flags that are used to mark golf greens that had been taken at the Silver Lake club. No one associated the taking of the flags with the burglary but investigators would like to find the flag takers because it is possible that they might have seen something which would give a lead to the burglars.

Tinley police cleared up a break-in that took place in that village Friday night when they picked up a 14-year-old boy Saturday who admitted having gained entry to the Lake Cook Farm Supply headquarters. The youth didn't steal anything, it was reported, but he threw fertilizer and chemicals about the place, causing damage that included the disabling of an adding machine. He was turned over to juvenile authorities.

WILL GIVE CONCERT—Robert Taylor, band director and head of the L-W music department, Tom Thompson, director of the girls glee, and Tom Olson, boys glee and mixed chorus director, discuss plans for their combined concert. The annual Spring concert will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 13, in the Lincoln-Way auditorium. All three choruses and the band received superior ratings in the recent state contest.

Contest numbers will be presented by each of the musical organizations plus the superior winning solos and ensembles from the contest.

Tickets for the concert will be available from any band or chorus member. All proceeds will be donated to the Lincoln-Way FM station fund.

Jr. College Election Coming Up

There is to be a special school election June 16, a referendum on the question of establishing a community junior college district made up of high school districts in the southwest suburban area.

There are seven of these districts. Six of them are in Cook county--Argo, Dist. 217, Blue Island, Dist. 218, Carl Sandburg, Dist. 230, Evergreen Park, Dist. 231, Oak Lawn, Dist. 229, Reavis, Dist. 220. The other district is Lincoln-Way high school, Dist. 210.

The votes cast in the incorporated area is kept separate from that tallied in the unincorporated sections. In order to carry the proposition must receive a majority of the votes cast in both incorporated and unincorporated area. If it loses in either area it is beaten.

This is the same method of voting that is employed in the formation of a community unit school district.

It is quite possible that the proposition could be beaten in both the Lincoln-Way and Sandburg districts and still carry if enough votes are piled up in the more thickly populated areas to overcome those cast against it.

It is this fact that has caused considerable concern among the Lincoln-Way district residents who are opposed to the junior college program. There is little doubt but that the proposition will be beaten in the Lincoln-Way district. The thing that concerns the objectors is to get out a thumping big vote against it in the incorporated and the unincorporated area.

If the objectors in Lincoln-Way district carry their fight into the other districts and organize the opposition there it is quite possible that the proposal will be beaten.

Blue Island school authorities are the ones who succeeded in getting the junior college referendum set for June. They have had a high school bond issue beaten and it is coming up again. The junior college question will be disposed of before the bond issue. School authorities there hope that with college question disposed of the voters will approve the bond issue.

There is little talk heard about the junior college deal in the Sandburg high school district so it is difficult to appraise the feeling there.

There is no difficulty in this regard in the Lincoln-Way district. There is high feeling against the junior college there. This feeling has defeated two building bond elections and should the junior college program will be greatly handicapped.

Prospects of double shifts at Lincoln-Way is expected to produce a great turnover in the faculty. Any building program to relieve this situation cannot be started in time to be of any practical use in 1963, it was explained.

If the junior college plan is beaten next month it is expected the high school board will try again to have a bond issue approved in the late summer or early fall so an addition can be built on the school. It is needed.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Jefferson P. Throttlebottom, a freeloader's freeloader, came breezing into the office one day last week and settled himself in the only comfortable chair the place boasts.

Jeff has ample leisure. His life plan is built on a give and take basis -- you give and he takes -- and it has served him well.

He reached over and dextrously picked two cigars from my shirt pocket. He would have made it three but for the fact that I happened to have my fingers around the third one preparatory to getting it out.

"I trust you have no intention of espousing the cause of the junior college program," he said, firing up one of my cigars.

I shook my head. "It is just as well," Jeff went on. "I have been out among the tribes and I want you to know they are painting for war. The settlers who are for joining up with this southwest suburban community junior college district had better start for the forts now if they want to keep their hair. The people are really stirred."

"It doesn't cost me anything. I do not own any real estate and you might say that my personal property is not taxable either unless there is a schedule that covers a bottle opener and a corkscrew. But I do think they are going a little far when they expect taxpayers to provide college for youngsters."

"I think they are going a little far when the law prescribes that a youngster must go to school until he is 16 and now, I understand, some of the educators, or the Earnest Little Brothers of the Educators, are plumping for a change in the law which would make it mandatory to keep a pupil in school until he is 18."

"Now whether it is true, as has been reported, that some of the unions are backing this legislation to put off the day when the young people hit the labor market, is something I can't say but that's the way the talk goes."

"I have talked with some high school administrators," Jeff went on, "about this 18-year-old gimmick and they look on the idea with about the same pleasure as a condemned man finding the day of execution has arrived and no word from the governor's office."

"We have people going to school now," a Cook county high school superintendent told me one day, "who will never learn anything. There won't anything even rub off on them. They are only taking up space that should be filled by someone with intelligence and a desire to learn."

"You ask why we pass these people? It is the only way to get rid of them other than to burn the school houses and I am afraid the taxpayers would take a dim view of such a procedure. And I couldn't blame them, the taxpayers I mean, because it is costing a fearful lot of money to try to build schools fast enough to keep pace with the enrollment gains and that doesn't include the cost of operation which would embrace salaries."

"If we have to continue to carry this burden another two years for the can't-or-won't-learn it is not only going to be costly from a dollar and cents basis but it could cause some of the teachers to wind up cutting out paper dolls."

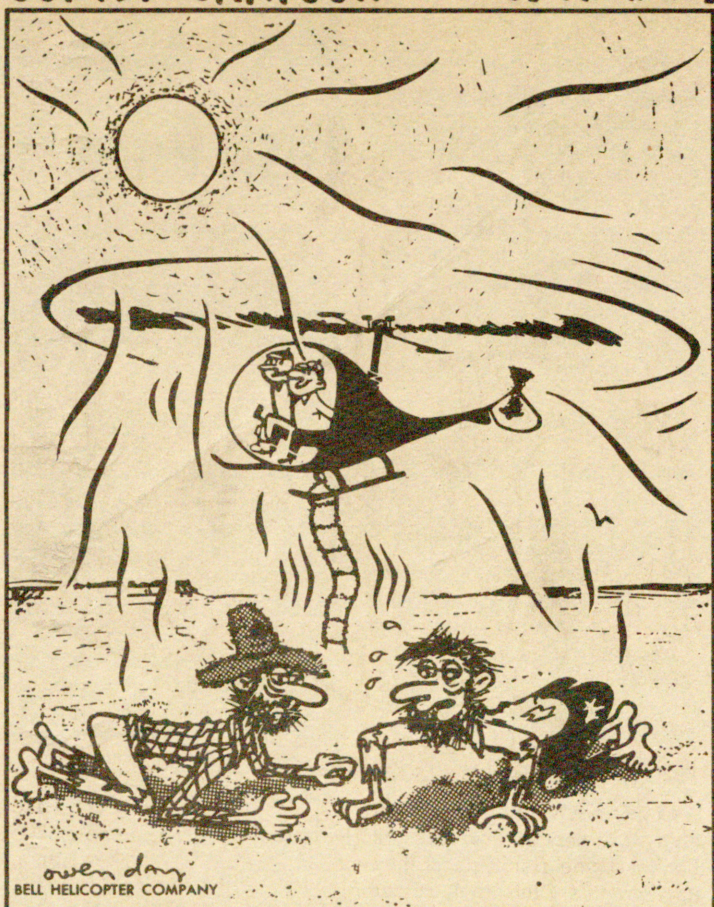

"On the other hand," Jeff declared, "being crazy might help if one is to stay with this education deal. A few years ago one was always reading about the need for deemphasizing athletics in our colleges and universities. Now it has swung too far the other way. I think we are putting too much emphasis on higher education. 'Why, I saw one add where a firm who was seeking a file clerk demanded the applicant should have a college degree. They way you hear people talk, responsible people as well as people looking for votes or contracts, our goal should be a college education for every boy and girl in the land.'

"Not only do the forward-looking want a college education for every kid but they want to make scientists out of them. If you ask me we have too many scientists now and what we could use would be some people with a broad, sound education with a good intellect and ever ready to acquire new knowledge."

"We have become slaves of the short-cut and the fast-buck. Science has accomplished much for man and his convenience and betterment. I must concede that. But science isn't everything and when the test tube boys try to improve on or reverse nature... look out!... Look what they have done to brewing and distilling arts -- ugh, the slop one gets today and

I might say that some of the quickies on the grocer's shelves or from his refrigerated section that late homing housewives toss on the dinner table are also an insult to a genteel stomach. "I contend," declared Jeff as he gathered up the morning papers that were on the desk and stuffed his tobacco pouch from the contents of my humidifier preparatory to taking his departure. "I contend that we are putting too much stress on college education. Education has been placed in the same sacred circle with mother and the flag and anyone who dares criticize it is immediately suspect... he has to be a radical -- left or right."

"I wonder if those who advocate a college education for everyone ever stopped to think what kind of a world we have... a pretty messy, dirty one if you ask me. With everyone having a college degree how are we going to get any work done... who will brave jungles, or desert, and fight the heat, the dust or the mud to build railroads or highways, and burrow underground to build tunnels or take out coal and minerals... who will perform the menial tasks and take on the dirty jobs if everyone has a college degree. Even a person with a couple of years of college is going to think he's a cut above those who have not had his educational advantages. Do you think a man with a bachelor's degree would take a job as a gandy dancer? It would be something wouldn't it, to have to hold PhD to drive a truck or to have graduated in the top ten of his high school class to get a job as porter in a saloon. There is a lot of hard work to do yet in this world. All endeavor, thank goodness, is not accomplished by machines. There is still a lot of work that has to be done with muscle and if we all get so educated that it is beneath our dignity and scholastic standing to stoop to physical labor there will be the hot place to pay and no pitch hot."

"I think education is a wonderful thing but I believe it pays off better if we use some common sense with it. Well, so long, I'd better start getting to work making a flock of wooden nickels -- just in case everyone does get to go to college."

"We need room. Room for growing minds. 'Go west, young man', was said to Daniel Boone, when he lost elbow room. But now there is no more room, west, north, or anywhere. We must now add on to the inadequate facilities we now have. But how, without money?"

The fact that more unsupervised hours will be present has been mentioned. As growing humans, we need recreation. Recreation that this area cannot supply so, naturally, we turn to "home-made fun" -- trouble kind of fun. Racing, drinking, darning, and many others. Then we are tagged as juvenile delinquents. Actually, it could result to the mass-production of juvenile delinquency.

the harvest In his own time. PRAYER: O God eternal, who art ever working in the "Now," lay upon our hearts our responsibility to be Thy witnesses. Fill us with confidence and skill to preach the gospel. For Jesus' sake, amen. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY.

God moves in mysterious ways to perform His wonders that deepen our spiritual lives.

A STUDENT SPEAKS

Dear Sir:
When I moved to New Lenox five years ago, I observed that this area, as a whole, was extremely religious, claiming that they lived by the Bible. I have also observed the main reason for the defeat of our much-needed bond issue was that the citizens were slightly peeved at the board of education for diving into the junior college affair, thus, "getting back" at the board by voting, negative. I would like to quote a passage (or a few) from the Bible:

Matthew 5
38 "You have heard that it hath been said: an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth:

39 "But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.

40 "And if a man will sue thee by law and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also.

41 "And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain.

42 "Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not away."

As you can see, they have gone AGAINST the Bible and have used the policy of "an eye for an eye". Also, they are not hurting the school board. They are hurting us, America's future ----- the world's future.

Many people DO have acceptable EXCUSES, but I cannot sympathize with the man, or woman, who spends enough money in one night, just on liquor or cigarettes alone, to pay for their tax increase.

We need room. Room for growing minds. "Go west, young man", was said to Daniel Boone, when he lost elbow room. But now there is no more room, west, north, or anywhere. We must now add on to the inadequate facilities we now have. But how, without money?

THE LAW

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

IN COOPERATION WITH THIS NEWSPAPER

OIL AND GAS LAW

For over 50 years Illinois has been an oil producing state. In recent years, improved methods of production and an increased knowledge of geological structures have broadened the productive areas until a large part of the state has oil potentialities.

Title to real estate includes ownership of all the minerals in and under the land. But since oil and gas, like underground water, are capable of migrating from place to place, "ownership" consists of the right to capture, reduce to possession, and sell or dispose of them.

Because the cost of exploring and producing oil and gas is so great, the landowner often leases his rights to explore for the minerals in exchange for an agreement on the part of the producer to pay him a certain royalty (usually one-eighth) of all oil and gas produced, free of exploration and production costs.

The right to explore and produce is usually granted to the producer for a definite period of years (called the "primary term") and also for as long thereafter as oil or gas is produced. The lease may also require that a well must be drilled within a certain time, or that the drilling of the first well may be postponed only upon the payment of certain annual cash rentals, called "delay rentals."

Oil and gas leases usually contain provisions to protect the landowner's use of the surface of the land, and to compensate him for any injury to the surface caused by the producer's drilling operations.

All those who obtain interests in an oil and gas lease and participate in the operations conducted on said lease are generally considered by law to be members of a mining partnership. Most of the usual rules of a partnership apply, so that each partner is personally liable for the debts of the venture, even though he has already paid his full share to the partner actually operating and managing the well or lease. The landowner who receives royalty payments is not considered a partner.

The sale or assignment of any portion of an oil and gas lease may have to be reported to the Secretary of State, and if a necessary report is not filed, the buyer, if he acts within the time prescribed by law, may be able to set the sale aside and have his money refunded. If the buyer resides in another state it may also be necessary to comply with the security laws of his state, and in some instances the regulations of the Federal Securities Exchange Commission may be involved.

Generally, the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals has supervisory power over the drilling and spacing of wells, and the restoration of the ground when the well is closed.

There are many income tax benefits available to participants in oil and gas lease ventures. Very generally, only 72 1/2% of oil royalties are taxable to the landowner, and the producer may qualify for deductions for the costs of drilling.

physically change hands in transactions. A large portion of our business activity is handled thru banking channels in which little currency is ever seen.

Modern ideas of what a nation owes to its citizens in the way of social advantages, has created pressures in organized labor groups and legislative bodies wherein their demands sometimes bear little relationship to productive values which would not have a lowering effect on purchasing power of the dollar. One of the facts of life is that there are more debtors than creditors and only a minor percentage of people who will discipline themselves into saving money for long range investment rather than just saving to acquire sufficient capital to complete purchase of a home, auto, etc. This is deferred spending rather than saving in the investment sense. Saving for investment is that saving which is intended for long range use in building up capital on which regular earnings in the form of interest or dividends are expected.

Many men in the financial community do not believe that labor or political groups will be able to withstand pressure for higher wages governmental service which will effect a lowering of purchasing power even the small, at that time. Union leaders are prisoners of their own power and must follow ideas of the rank and file or lose their positions to less cautious aspirants for their positions.

Hints For Homeowners

BY JAMES FIZZELL
ASS'T. FARM ADVISER

Weeds are usually the result of and not the cause of a poor lawn. The best way to keep them from getting established is to fertilize at least twice a year, never mow shorter than 1-1/2 inches, and to water to a 6-inch depth. These treatments will produce a thick, healthy turf which will prevent light from getting down to the weed seedlings.

If weeds do appear in the lawn it is best to get rid of them while they are still small. Once they get a good start, it doesn't take them long to crowd out the desirable grasses. When large weeds are removed, they leave bare areas that allow more weeds to grow.

Weeds can be removed from small lawns with a knife or weed digger. Chemical weed killers can be used in larger lawns. 2,4-D will kill broad-leaved weeds such as dandelion and plantain. For more persistent broadleaf weeds, such as chickweed, knotweed, or creeping ivy, use 2,4,5-T or 2,4,5-TP.

Crabgrass can best be controlled by killing the seed as it germinates. Several good materials to do this job have been developed. Those which we have consistently found to give good results are Dacthal, Zytan, calcium arsenate, lead arsenate and diphenatril. These materials are incorporated into the products you can buy from your garden supply stores. Look for the names on the label. Other promising materials are being tested. Crabgrass seed germinates in late May. Apply pre-emergent controls now.

DSMA (di-sodium methyl ar-sonate) and AMA (amine methyl arsonate) are post-emergent materials that destroy plants after they appear above ground. These compounds are most effective when plants are small. Much of the above information is included in the new University of Illinois publication "A Dozen Weeds In Your Lawn." Get your copy by writing Cooperative Extension Service, 6657 South St., Tinley Park, ILL. Borer cause more damage to iris plants than any other pest. First symptoms of borers are tear stains and chewed leaf edges that appear on leaves in early spring. Irises later develop loose, rotted bases and holes in rhizomes.

Borers hatch from overwintering eggs - pierce the leaves and bore into the under-ground stems. There they feed and grow to maturity.

Spray or dust your iris now to control this pest. Use DDT and treat every ten days until Memorial Day. In fall remove and burn all dead leaves and trash on which the adult borer moth might lay eggs.

The Arbury Hills Civic Association held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, May 1 at the school. Although there was only a small turnout for the meeting, there was a quorum present, and there was quite a bit discussed.

Tony Surma, one of the two deputies for Arbury Hills, brought up the subject of too fast driving on the streets of Arbury Hills. He reminded everyone that there is an automatic twenty mile per speed limit for residential areas in the state of Illinois unless otherwise posted. He also gave fair warning that, if this excess speed did not cease, that he would be forced to pass out tickets for speeding.

The Little League has hit a snag in its progress when it was learned that the cost of insurance would be quite high. The matter is being taken under advisement and there will be further information on this at a later date.

The Civic Association has purchased a mimeograph machine, which other organizations may use. It was decided that there would be a charge of $1 plus costs for the run-off of material for a non-profit organization in Arbury Hills, and $5 plus costs for any merchant or individual who wishes to have material run-off.

At the present time the mimeograph machine is being kept at the home of Roy Sipin of 9524 West Birch ave. A typed up stencil is to be brought to the Sipin house, and then the stencil will be run-off. Mrs. Marie Stapleton of 9401 West Elm Avenue, secretary of the Civic Association has offered to type up a stencil at no charge for those who do not have access to a typewriter.

The second annual Civic Association picnic will be held at the Mokena park on the last Sunday in July, July 29. The date has already been approved by Mrs. Hugo Niethammer of the Mokena park board.

It was decided that the board of directors of the Civic Association would act as the committee for the event. There will be tickets sold in advance by the area representatives at the cost of $1.00 per family for either Arbury Hills residents or their friends. The tickets will help defray the cost of refreshments. There will also be a drawing for a door prize at the picnic on the basis of the tickets.

There will be refreshments for both the children and the adults. In addition there will be games and races for all.

There was an organizational meeting of the Republican Men's Club held at St. Mary's hall. At this meeting there were temporary officers appointed, and permanent officers will be elected at the next meeting to be held at the hall on Monday evening, May 14 at 7:45 o'clock.

The potential slate of officers: Dave Bergen, chairman; Mike Novak, secretary, both of Mokena; Willis Way, co-chairman of Arbury Hills; Bob Best, co-chairman; and Bob Schellhase, co-chairman, both of Arbury Hills.

Mike Plumly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Plumly of 19333 South Oak Street is recovering from a bout with rheumatic fever, while his brother is scheduled for an operation for the removal of adenoids.

Mrs. Edward Cieply of 9437 West Birch ave., has recovered after her trip to the hospital for an operation.

Linda Alice Hovi made her appearance into the world on Friday, April 27. She weighed in at a healthy nine pounds even. She joins her one sister, Marie Ann, and three brothers, Edward, Jr., Michael, and David.

The boys returned home last Thursday from a three-week stay with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Doran of La Grange. It has been an eventful three weeks for the grandparents when first Michael, then Edward and David all came down with the measles.

Just so that she did not feel left out Marie Ann also came down with the measles at home. Linda seemingly came home from one hospital to her home "hospital".

The Arbury Hills Kindergarten Organization will hold their monthly membership meeting at the home of Mrs. George Peterson of 9451 West Elm Avenue on Tuesday evening, May 15 at 8 o'clock.

The Arbury Hills Baby Sitters Cooperative will hold its meeting at the home of Mrs. John Stensrud of 9407 West Elm ave., on Wednesday evening, May 16 at 8 o'clock. All members who are planning to attend are requested to call Mrs. Stensrud at Mokena 5337 before May 16.

The Aleutian Islands are in the Bering Sea between Alaska and Siberia.

U.S. Makes Grant To Area For Study Of Water Needs

The Northeastern Illinois metropolitan area planning commission will receive a $202,000 federal grant to help finance preparation of a program for developing the water resources of the Chicago area.

Acting at its quarterly meeting, Thursday, April 19, the commission approved the contractual terms of a "701" federal urban planning grant which had been announced a week earlier by U. S. Urban Renewal Commissioner William Slayton. Slayton announced that the planning commission would receive the grant to support a $303,000 project designed to "formulate the broad strategy of a plan and policy for the comprehensive development and management of water resources" in Northeastern Illinois. The federal funds are to be matched by $101,000 in state and local funds in financing the 18-month project.

The Northeastern Illinois planning commission is the official advisory agency established by the Illinois legislature to develop plans and guide planning efforts aimed at solving critical metropolitan problems of the six-county, 3,714-square-mile Northeastern Illinois metropolitan area. Its 19 members are appointed by the governor of Illinois, the mayor of Chicago and the county board chairman of Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will Counties.

Among its other functions, the planning commission is specifically authorized by its enabling act to "prepare and recommend to units of government" in Northeastern Illinois "generalized comprehensive plans and policies" pertaining to water supply and distribution.

As described at the commission meeting, the main task of the new water study will be to develop the information necessary for formulating a metropolitan water resources plan. This will include:

1. Measuring the water resources of Northeastern Illinois and estimating future demands for water;
2. Developing methods for achieving a better and more efficient use of water in the metropolitan area, and
3. Formulating "guides" for water resource management by local governments in the area.

Participants in the water resources project, along with the planning commission, will be the three state agencies--the state geological survey, the state water survey, and Illinois department of public health.

Local funding of the project was made possible by an act of the 1961 general Assembly (HB 751) which authorized a study of total water resources and future water requirements in Northeastern Illinois, subject to coordination by the metropolitan area planning commission. HB 751 contained appropriations of $75,000 for the State Water Survey and $5,000 for the Department of Public Health. These appropriations have been supplemented by $21,000 from the Planning Commission to arrive at the $101,000 in local funds.

In other actions at its quarterly meeting, the planning commission:

1. Approved a proposed cooperative study with the Chicago department of city planning of the relationship of metropolitan planning policies and those on which the forthcoming general plan of Chicago is to be based.
2. Approved a proposed cooperative study with the Chicago department of city planning of the relationship of metropolitan planning policies and those on which the forthcoming general plan of Chicago is to be based.
3. Approved a proposed cooperative study with the Chicago department of city planning of the relationship of metropolitan planning policies and those on which the forthcoming general plan of Chicago is to be based.

Paul Oppermann, planning commission executive director, remarked of this study that "it will be a major step in developing coordination between future plans for the metropolitan area and those for Chicago, the area's central city."

In approving the study, the planning commission suggested that it be enlarged to consider also the policies and activities of the proposed Cook county regional planning commission.

2. The commission endorsed the nomination of the Lake county regional planning commission for a national planning award by a professional planners' group. The Lake county commission was nominated by the Western Great Lakes chapter of the American Institute of Planners, largely on the basis of its sponsorship of a pilot study in Elia township of which kinds of soil are best adapted to various kinds of urban use. In supporting the nomination, the metropolitan area commission termed the study "a unique achievement in employing the skills of the soil scientist in urban land use planning."

3. The commissioners heard an encouraging report on financial support of metropolitan area planning by local governments. As of April 1, Oppermann reported, 83 Northeastern Illinois municipalities had made appropriations to the planning commission, as compared with 28 municipal contributors for the same period of 1961. Oppermann pointed to an ascending curve in number of municipalities supporting the commission--from 41 in 1960, to 62 for all of 1961, and 83 for the first quarter of 1962.

Under its enabling act, the planning commission has no fixed source of income. Instead, it receives voluntary appropriations and contributions in response to requests submitted annually to governments at all levels, and to private individuals, corporations and foundations.

And Mother Never Will Know . .

Joan Belletti isn't even in school yet, but she knows how to solve a big problem. In the picture on the left, she helps herself to a paper cup for a glass of milk. Then comes the accident, but fortunately there is no breakage. But what will Mother say about that mess on the floor? But Joan quietly figures out the solution, as the picture on the right shows. Everything will be spic and span in no time and Mother will never know.

TB Shows Rises in Cook County Suburbs for 1961

New active tuberculosis cases in the suburbs of Cook county show an increase for 1961 with 267 reported compared to 243 new ones for 1960.

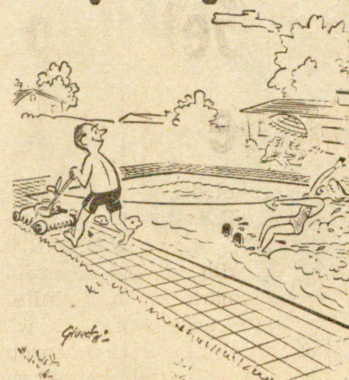

In making the announcement, Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, field director of Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District, said the rise over the 1960 number is attributed to the following factors: growth of suburban population, better detection program and to a virus pneumonia epidemic last winter.

Seventy-one suburbs contributed to the 267 new active cases with the larger ones having the most cases. Evanston had 21 new cases for the year; Cicero, 19; Oak Park, 14; Melrose Park, 12, both Berwyn, Chicago Heights, 11; and Harvey 10. All the other suburbs had under 10 newly reported cases for 1961 with many of them attributed with only one case. That was the case with Orland Park, Tinley Park, Palos Park and Palos Hills. Each reported one new case.

SCCSD, which suburbs support by tax levy, hospitalized 163 of the newly TB afflicted and treated 38 of them at its out-patients clinics.

Dr. Piszczek pointed out that 65 of the new pulmonary TB cases reported were in the far advanced stage and 116 were moderately advanced. "Again," he said, "this shows how important it is to check regularly with a chest X-ray which can detect the disease at its start. TB in the early stages often does not make itself known in outward symptoms. The yearly summer chest X-ray survey will begin in the suburbs June 4 and continue through September 28. We hope everyone who has not had a chest X-ray check-up this year will take advantage of the free service."

Explosion Victim Gets $100,000 For Injuries

(CNS) Two employees of the Dealers Transport, Inc., truckers, at 12601 Torrence avenue, where a gas main explosion demolished the office on Feb. 29, 1960, received settlements totaling $104,000 Wednesday before Superior Judge Harold G. Ward.

Loren Klatt, 44 years old, 15500 Marshfield ave., Harvey, an accountant, accepted a settlement of $100,000 for extensive second and third degree burns covering 25 per cent of his body surface including his face, scalp, shoulders, and both arms.

Thomas Devanis, 49 years old, 10959 Vernon avenue, received $4,000 for relatively minor injuries. Both were represented by Attorney Richard G. French of the firm of Hinshaw, Culbertson, Moelmann, and Hoban.

Defendant in the case was the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, which was charged with failing to repair a leak in the gas main in front of the building which seeped into the basement. A prior settlement of $80,000 was made for property damage.

Tells Farmers How To Get Government Aid On Beans

In order to be eligible for price support on the 1962 soybean crop it is necessary to maintain the farm's average acreage of conserving land, William Z. Polley, manager of the Will county ASCS office announced today.

This requirement was also in the 1961 soybean support program. It is designed to insure that any increases in soybean production will come from acreage used for crops that are in abundant supply rather than from land now in conserving uses or idle.

To be eligible for 1962 support, soybeans must be grown on a farm where the 1959-1960 average acreage of conserving and idle land has been maintained. The soybeans must grade No. 4 or better and contain not more than 14 percent moisture, and they must be in adequate storage.

Street Repairs Get Top Billing in Village Work

Construction and repair of streets is occupying the attention of Frankfort village officials now.

New bids will be sought for blacktopping the east end of Kansas street, from Ash to White, and Village Engineer Robert Hamilton and Street Commissioner Milton Subbert are pressing the state highway department for authority to proceed with work on several streets, including Smith and Bowen, that are on the motor fuel tax list.

The village had bids on the blacktopping of Kansas street once, but they had to be rejected when the low bidder failed to include a certified check or bid bond with his offer, as required by the state highway department. It will be another month and a half before new bids will be in, Hamilton estimated.

Meanwhile the village board took steps this week to end complaints about the dust from

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

The reverberations of the steel price increase and manner in which the increase was withdrawn, will be with us for some time.

Quite a number of newspaper observers, have been highly critical of the steel firms requesting the increase and some of these observers expressed the idea that those requesting the increase, had been considerably less than astute in their observations of likely results of the price increase.

It is somewhat daring to pass off the steel firms action as poorly considered. The steel business is a highly competitive one. The term "steel business" includes many manufacturing activities.

It would seem quite likely that the price increase maneuver was carefully calculated. Recent history has shown that government agencies have been quite sympathetic to demands of union leaders and sympathetic with the position of the steel makers, but not strongly enough to put up a fight for them.

The price of steel is felt in many industries and many more buyers of steel than makers of steel.

Possibly steel makers wanted the government agencies and administrators most firmly on record as to anything increasing steel costs. This makes further union demands more difficult. Steel firms also likely will get price increases in some segments of production.

In 1900 the U. S. Steel was created thru merger of a number of steel makers and the result of these mergers was to concentrate more than 50 per cent of the nations capacity in one firm.

The results of this merger are often cited by critics of government actions in breaking up industrial combinations. Many students of business believe that the laws of economics and competition, will make control of any large segment of a major industry, most difficult unless the management is able to operate the combination in a highly efficient manner.

As is not unusual in large mergers, certain of properties brought into the fold, will be inefficient and even excess plant capacity. To effect such mergers, many compromises must be made.

At about the time of World War I and shortly thereafter, the idea of mass production with the automobile, etc., created steel demand for lighter sections and rolled sheets.

Executives of steel buying firms and producers, noted that the profitable items in steel manufacture had shifted. They also noted that rolled sheets, etc., had steadier demand than the heavy girders etc., and also required less capital for production equipment. Result - numerous steel manufacturers of fast moving types.

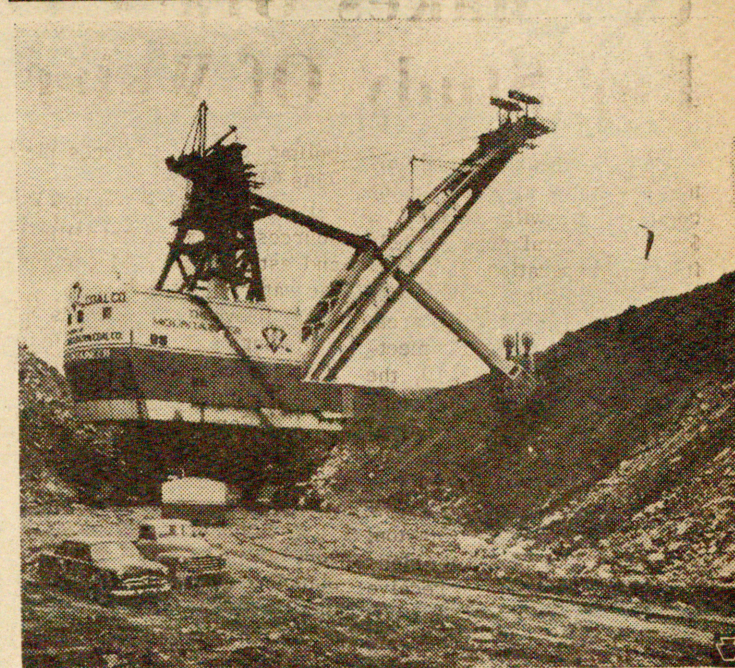

Today, the largest tonnage production doesn't necessarily mean the highest earnings.

Steel and other metals are usually sold as having specific physical properties. Some have special resistance to heavy impact, others with hardness to meet certain requirements, etc.

An example is had in large dredge pumps handling highly abrasive sand. The liners of these pumps are very important as they are difficult to change and a dredge having value upwards of a half million may be tied up during the change of liners.

A liner giving 50 per cent or more useful life becomes a valuable piece of equipment. Some of these liners are high chromium and nickel alloys sold at prices as high as forty and fifty cents per pound, but they shorten shut-down time by lasting longer.

Mechanization advances in the coal mining industry are producing behemoths like this 16-story stripping machine which tears earth from the coal seam in 105-ton bites. It is so big it has a 3-story elevator inside the cab.

At another mine, the Peabody Coal Company this year installed the latest thing in push-button mining. The machine enters the strip alone and is operated by a 2-man team at the controls outside. Significantly, in 1961, the Peabody Company, second largest in the nation, recorded a $21 million profit on the sale of coal—the highest of any recent year!

While extensive mechanization has made the coal industry well, it has cost many a miner his job in the process. The result has been mounting pressure on coal state politicians and on the National Coal Association.

On the federal government's part, hundreds of thousands of dollars are being allocated to research new uses of coal. Hundreds of millions of dollars are being spent through distressed area legislation to provide relief for out-of-work miners.

The coal owners, their association, and their political spokesmen have found in residual oil imports a convenient smokescreen behind which the facts of mechanization can be hidden from the mine workers. Significantly, however, in the thirty-one months since residual oil import quotas were imposed, 38,300 workers have left the mines, yet coal production has increased 2 1/2 million tons.
